My dear brother,

Bro. Swornstedt tells me that he expects you may be down in a few days, and I believe you said the same to me. I meant to have written you before, that I would rather you would delay your visit till about the 1st of April, as I shall probably have something for you then to see. My time has been so awfully occupied, that I could not do more than read up the manuscript - and not quite that yet. I am trying to get my regular work ahead, so that when I set to writing I shall not be bothered with it. Next week I hope to begin to see through. Then I take hold of your book vi et armis.

We are all in good health.

As ever

B.F. Leff
